BY RALPH H. TURNER,

United News Staff Correspondent. Genoa, April 18 .- With allied and German leaders angrily exchanging hot words over the signing of the Russo-German treaty, the European situation holds more dynamite than at any time since Versailles.

The allies in a formal memorandum condemn Germany for concluding a treaty secretly "behind the backs of their colleagues." The Germans boldly retort that they deliberately signed the treaty because the allies were leaving them ou tof their Russian nego-

The allied note takes the position that the Germans have by their action renounced further participation in the Russian discussions. Whether the Germans will construe this as a suggestion that they withdraw from the conference remains to be seen.

Germans Defiant. Germany, through Dr. Walter Ranau, her foreign minister, is taking a strong, even defiant attitude, maintaining that Germany intends to take any action which she thinks beneficial Italy, it is learned, at first protested that the note was too strong in tone, but it was finally adopted unanimously.

Judging from Rathenau's statement to the press, Germany is satisfied with her Russian achievement and may now decide to accept the allied views meekly as a mild rebuke and continue at Genoa rather than risk further condemnation by withdrawing.

Allied Note. The allied note says it was learned with astonishment during the first stages of the Genoa conference that Germany, without reference to the other powers, had secretly concluded a treaty with the soviets covering questions which are at present the subject of negotiations between the representatives of Russia and all powers inted to the conference including Ger-

any. The German chancellor, it is pointed out, declared at the opening session of the conference only a week ago that the German delegation would co-operate with other powers in solving the questions in a spirit of genuine loyalty and fellowship.

The powers therefore express in the frankest terms their opinion that the conclusion of such an agreement while the conference is in session is a violation of the conditions Germany

Washington, April 18 .- (By Constitution Leased Wire.)-The first steps taken today toward refunding the $11,000,000,000 war debts owed this nation by the allies, supplemented by the news of the German-Russian treaty which came near precipitating serious trouble in the Genoa conference, came coincident to a sharp statement by government officials here that this government is not indebted in the slightest degree to the soviet government of Russia or to any government which may succeed that

Migratory Duck Brings Victory To W. H. Abbott

BY STEWART F. GELDERS.

By STEWART F. GELDERS.
Why did W. H. Abbott win the tax receiver's race?

Because he got the most votes, say practical minded folks in 36 Fulton county and city of Atlanta precincts. But out in South Bend district, the thirty-seventh precinct, folks say there is a better reason.

It is because "Good Luck," wild migratory duck of the Hooded Maganza species, flew down to the polls just after they had opened Tuesday morning.

Good Luck is a small female duck. Practical minded folks will say that she simply was exhausted batting, the morning's heavy rains on the long northward flight of her flock from far-away South America back to her Canadian summer haunts.

But the people of South Bend district know better. Good Luck, they will assure you, was, flying over full for county and sensed the election excitement. County Officer W. A. Will, a staunch supporter of Dr. Gilbert, and H. D. Chatham, an equally warm adherent of Mr. Abbott, saw the duck light at the same time and gave chase.

Waddling and flying with desperate but tired-out wings, the little bird fled down Jonesboro road, toward Atlanta and the courthouse, and the tax receiver's office. For two hundred yards or more down the muddy highway the unequal race continued and then County Officer Wills swooped down on the feathered fugitive, nicked her up and held her fast. Mr. Chatham arrived at the point of capture a split-second later. After a few minutes' talk a bargain was struck between the two men to this eeffet: That the high man in South Bend district was to be awarded the duck as one of the spois of office. The Story of the Success of a Railway Spike and What It Is Now Proposed to Do With It

IN 1916 Hubert E. Harris, an engineer on the Southern Railway, running between Macon, Ga., and Jacksonville, Fla., conceived the idea of a most practical yet simple railway device, the use of which would mean not only protection to railway equipment, but would result also in the saving of scores of human lives.

In his experience as an engineer he had observed railroad wrecks resulting from spreading rails—rails which had given way because of spikes pulling from crossties, or crossties themselves being so worn and cut from constant contact with rails that spikes no longer held the rails in place. As a result of his idea there was soon invented the Lock-Spikes and

Tie Plates shown at the top of this advertisement. During the five and a half years which have followed this equipment has been tested and tried out on steam railroads, electric railroads and terminal companies, on main lines and switch yards. NOT A SINGLE FAILURE HAS EVER

BEEN MET. In the meantime the device has been covered and protected by four United States patents, and applications for patents in foreign countries, now pending, are being granted from time to time.

Company Is Organized

Immediately following the first manufacture and test of this device the RAILWAY LOCK-SPIKE COMPANY was organized in Atlanta. Its charter was granted by Fulton Superior Court, September 22, 1919. Its capital stock, at organization, was $300,000, with privilege of increasing to a maximum of $1,000,000.

All stock is common stock, par value $100 per share. No bonds or preferred stock. Every stockholder is on the same basis.

Its principal purpose is manufacturing and selling the Harris Lock-Spike and Plate. The company has its own plant and equipment for making the Lock-Spikes and Plates, located at 731 North Ashby street, Atlanta.

An examination of its books is made monthly by the American Audit Company of New York. It has only a small indebtedness, consisting of current items, which it is abundantly able to pay, and it has Liberty Bonds and money in the bank.

this time. It has never sold a share of its stock at less than par, and after the current year its stockholders—over 500 in number—may advance the price of same to a figure materially beyond par. This company has quietly but assiduously attended to its business; its stock has been heretofore bought in a switch yard where before the installation of this equipment it was a common occurrence for switch engines to leave the track and where it was necessary to tighten ordinary spikes one or more times per day. Since our equipment was installed no further derailment has occurred nor has the track required any attention whatever.

It is so designed that the spike locks the tie plate and rail together and holds the combination securely fastened to the crossties. The plate is equipped with ribs on the upper and under surfaces, which latter ribs become seated in the shoulders of the spokes and the surface of the ties. Strength, steadfastness and security are given when and where same are most needed, holding the rail in gauge and eliminating lateral motion, churning, pounding, tie cutting, rail spreading and preventing wrecks otherwise caused thereby. It saves human lives and protects equipment and freight from damage and destruction.

> Having a life of much longer duration than the ordinary cut spike, the lock-spike is the more economical of the two. It saves labor. The track man who spends his days redriving spikes can be taken from the pay roll an item of $6,000,000 saved annually by the railroads. By eliminating any play of the rail it adds years to the maximum life of the cross-

Machines to Make Spikes

The chief task which at first confronted the company was the construction of a machine which would manufacture its spike on a commercial basis. It was told by some of the greatest manufacturing concerns in the United States that its spike could not be made by any machine that could be constructed for it; that two or three kinds of machines would be required. It has refuted such statements, by inventing and constructing a single machine which will make its spike, completing five operations in one turn of the wheel, and practically as rapidly as that at which ordinary spike machines make the present cut spike. Its machine can also be used to make the ordinary cut spike with great rapidity, and in addition can be utilized to make small drop forgings five or six times as fast as same can be produced in ordinary drop forging machines. Applications for patents covering the machine are now pending and will belong to the Company. It regards the machine as of the greatest value, and revolutionary in its capacity and performance, not only in the manufacture of lock-spikes and cut spikes, but also in the drop forging field, which includes automobile parts. This first machine has been tested out for months. It has made good.

Its minor improvements have been figured out from its performances, and the next machine will be an advance on it in many particulars.

Cannot Accept Large Orders Now.

The company cannot safely now accept large orders for equipment, for definite and prompt delivery, while having only one machine with which to manufacture its spikes. Any possible breakdown would render delivery uncertain and resultant breaches of contracts of sale.

Hence it is necessary to build another and then additional machines as soon as possible, and the designs therefor are now being prepared. Such construction will be accomplished in shorter time and at less expense than the first machine entailed. This second model will be a standardized machine, so that others can speedily be built patterned after it.

The company feels that the practical utility and great value of its equipment and machine have been established, and, with sufficient machines to attain quantity production, steel can be bought in large lots, orders can be accepted, and deliveries made as agreed.

Many letters from Chief Engineers, Road Masters, Master Mechanics, Supervisors, Section Foremen and other railroad men who KNOW, are on file in the office of the company, attesting to the merits and efficiency of our Lock-Spike and Plate. Their letters are full of praise and enthusia sm for this equipment. They serve to prove all that we claim for our equipment, and can be seen by anyone interested.

It is not to be wondered that, as reported in the press dispatches, it "dazed the allied nations."

"Several months ago," says the official statement of the Russian delegation at Genoa, negotiations for this Russian-German treaty, reestablishing commercial and diplomatic relations between those two neighboring powers of Europe were begun; and they were pursued secretly and covertly throughout the world-wide preparations for the Genoa conference at which all of the participating nations were supposed to enter into a plan for mutual reconstruction industrially, commercially and financially, on a basis of co-operation, open deal-

But if it continues the present indications are that it will be without the further participation of Germany and Russia, the probability being that those two countries will be banished as traitors and outlaws; in which event, even though the conference results in a measure of success, it cannot be so successful as it would have been with all of its original memend, and signatories to any agree

TO PROMOTE LIBERTY.

According to a recent official statement from the Woodrow Wilson Foundation headquarters more than $700,000 of the million dollars sought for the endowment of that institution is already in hand; and there is not the slightest grounds for doubt that the entire amount will soon be available.

It has come from republicans and democrats, men and women, who are in sympathy with the purpose of the foundation; which is to promote "the co-operation of liberal forces throughout the world" -a purpose to which Woodrow Wilson has devoted the best years do of his life

It is a principle to which the genius and the heart of Wilson gave an identity that was unique, and that injected a new element into world politics.

So effective has the powerful influence of Wilson's master mind been in giving life and force to that principle that it universally April-foolin', or winter's snow, has come to be characterized as You jes' can't tell how the weather'll

"the Wilson ideal." Through the ratification of the Washington conference treaties the United States has recently made a noteworthy approach toward that ideal-an accomplishment in which the masses of the American people feel a sense of gratification. The substitution of conference for armed conflict, provided for by those treaties as the method to maintain peace in the far east and the Pacific, is destined to become universal in its application; and when that time comes, war will be no more and the "Wilson ideal" will have been realized.

That is the end toward which Wilson worked and is working. His self-sacrificing devotion to that principle has placed Wilson's name among those of the immortals.

The Woodrow Wilson Foundation, once fully endowed and put into operation, undoubtedly will contribute much toward hastening the attainment of that end.

ON BUILDING BOOM

Atlanta is substantially started or an enduring period of great building activity, in the opinion of S. Howard Myers, vice president of Rogers and Manson company, publishers of The Architectural Forum.

Mr. Myers is making an extended tour of the south investigating building conditions, and finds the situation in this city more encouraging than in any other southern city he has visited.
"No one should hesitate to ound, now," states Mr. Myers, "Producers and building material dealers have got prices down to rock bottom and there is no likelihood of futher decline building costs for many months, not several years. Short Line Men Plan to Enlist Georgia Support

Representatives of 23 short line nilroads in Georgia and also private itizens from every section traversed y these lines, gathered at the Kimball house Tuesday and perfected the Short Line Railroad association, a compact working organization in a movement to bring needed relief to the short lines so as to prevent further abandonment of these roads within the

Headquarters of the association will be opened immediately in Atlanta and an intensive campaign will be waged for legislative relief and for assist-ance from other sources to insure against the further abandonment of

It was pointed out that the short line railroads represent an invest-ment of approximately $90,000,000, their service is of vital value and importance to hundreds of thousands of Georgians, and the inability of any line to continue would be disastrous to the communities affected. Tribute to Salvation Army

A beautiful tribute to the Salva, ilege to have this A beautiful tribute to the Salvarion Army and a ringing call to Atlanta women to rally in support of the home service appeal, which began Wednesday, is embodied in a state ment issued by Mrs. Irving S. Thomas, former president of the Atlanta Woman's club, who is serving as chairman of the women's division.

To quote Mrs. Thomas:

"'A Man May Be Down, But He's Never Out!"

Never Out!

"How many of you have read that on the Salvation Army posters?

"Why is he never out? Who is keeping him from being out? What are you doing to help keep him from heing out? Are you not your brothbeing out? Are you not your brother's keeper? Is there any reason why it should be someone else and not your business to help keep him from being out?

not your business to help keep bim from being out?

"You may feel that you are not fitted for that kind of work or that you haven't the time. But these reasons do not lessen your responsibility to your unfortunate brother, for your contribution at this time to the Salvation Army will find some one who is fitted and has the time to give just the kind of help which is most needed.

But One Appeal a Year. "The Salvation Army makes but one appeal a year for financial aid. The women's division is asked to give its customary generous share in the year's budget. We are asking every woman in Atlanta to give at least one dollar. To some, that one dollar may mean a sacrifice, but the greater the sacrifice, the greater the blessing.

Some will feel that they want to Some will feel that they want to give more and have a larger share in helping some poor wanderer along life's journey. If you could go into some of the desolate homes and see how devoid they are of the bare ne-cessities of life, you would not hesi-tate one moment in sending your con tribution. Do you remember the heavy lace curtains that were the ideal of a generation ago? We didn't all have them in our parlors, to be sure, but the rich had them. Who's Who and What's Happened.

Sally Brabant, a society butterfly, has been given a year's leave of absence by her husband, Richard Brabant, who hopes that she will learn something of life. She has a thrilling flirtation with.

Keith Gilbert, who has always been labeled "dangerous," and is horrified to learn that, despite his position in society, he is a bootlegger. One of his men shoots a revenue officer, and Gilbert is held for murder. He escapes, taking Sally with him, but she is rescued by Neal Calhoun, who gives her some good advice. She finds herself without funds, and, not knowing where her husband is assumes the name of "Mrs. Pemberton," and obtains a position as chaperon to Claire Finch, who has more money than manners. They go to a summer resort, where Claire falls in love with Rex Mallory, the som of a prominent automobile manufacturer, who prefers Sally.
Sally goes to dinner at a roadhouse with Claire and Mallory, and in the dressing room finds a girl picking her pockets.

Chapter LVII A Tangled Web

For a moment Sally was too surprised to speak. At the sound of her cry the girl had whirled around, and now stood facing her defiantly. "What do you mean—going through my pockets?" Sally demanded, when she could control her voice. "Were you looking for something to steal?"
"I was," the girl retorted, holding up Sally's little gold mesh bag, and fingering its clasp of sapphires and diamonds. "And I found it."

"But I don't understand-I don't see why you steal from me," Sally protested. "What have I got to do with you?"

"Plenty. Maybe you've forgotten all about a certain little party Keith Gilbert gave at his country place up the Hudson—maybe you don't remem-ber that the revenue officers came to arrest him, not just because he was a bootlegger, but because there'd been fight and one of the revenue officers and been killed." "Where'd he get the money to pay a lawyer?" demanded the girl bitter-ly. "That's what I'm trying to get ly. That's what I'm trying to get together now. That's why I came in here and tried to steal your pocket book after I saw you come in. I've got to get money somehow—I've got got to get money somehow—I've got to get things started, and try to get a new trial for Jack, and a regular lawyer and everything. The French historian Michelet once said: "If I had a daughter, I would teach her anatomy." Excellent as a protection against the perils of the world, but if I had a daughter I think I would teach her banking. One of the things that rightly shock a man is the indif-ference of girls to the investment of their money. If they spend it on jumpers or candies, all goes well; the tragedy begins when Miss Twenty-Dollars-A-Week tries to save for a rainy or even a sunny day. She opens an account at the savings bank and grow richer every month until she grows a little too rich.

Then her progress seems too slow. A traveling bond salesman tempts her as she sits at the typewriter, and soon she becomes the owner of shares in a gold mine, the only gold contents of which are represented by the money that has been lost in it. Or she hears of local financier who is paying her neighbor 10 per cent a month. One way or another her money disappears, and so she learns the lesson that a strawberry sundae in the tumbler is worth a ton of bonds. Now, there are bad bonds and good ones; it is to everybody's advantage that young women should invest their money in irrigation, house building, canals, enterprises that pay them interest and supply the country with capital. Schools, college and office should guide them, so that their tastes for economy may not be betrayed. girls be told?" is a question often put. I am sure they should be

This season, when ribbon of artistic merit can be had but is not offered, as the sole thing, there is an extra-ordinary demand for the simple weaves. THE HOUSEHOLD Edited by Anne Rittenhouse

HE WHO BEGINS. "He who begins and does not fin-ish," runs an oid proverb, his labor." The truth of this fre ently applies to the housewife. If you make up your mind, for instance, that you ought to and will keep household accounts and then keep them for two or three weeks and abandon the enterprise, you are losing the labor spent in the first weeks when you kept the accounts faithfully. You have not kept them long enough to gain any benefit thereby. You have simply thrown away the time you spent at the outset. So if you exercise great care in the preparation of your children's foods to see that they are properly selected and properly cooked and then, through weariness, are careless in the preparation of one dish, you may be throwing away all the labor expended. If you clean part of a room thoroughly but do not rid the room of all the dust you have thrown away the time spent in the partial cleaning.

If you take out some of the weeds from your gaden but not all your form the partial cleaning.

from your garden but not all, you will be giving the weeds that remain an opportunity to grow stronger and thrive more lustily. thrive more lustily.

If you keep your temper all day under trying conditions and then "explode" after the day's work is done you have wasted all the nervous energy that was required to keep your temper in leash during the early hours. You have lost any chance of winning recognition as a person of pleasant disposition. You might just as well have gone along, scolding and com-plaining all day long.

If you wash clothes ever so care fully, rubbing out all the state and streaks, rinse them through to out three waters, blue them with care and then hang them on the line with streaks, rinse them through to or three waters, blue them with care and then hang them on the line with indifferent care—you have lost all your labor in washing them so clean. The overwhelming success of the production, quite apart from its local or social interest, on Monday and Tuesday evenings, has brought out a surprisingly large demand for seats at the only mattnee of the engagement. Many parties will be given by prominent women, and a number of delegations from surrounding colleges will be on hand to see the performance.

The matinee is being especially sponsored by the Little Theater Guild of Atlanta out of compliment to its vice president, Miss Margaret Horton, who is to play the role of Marjorie Blake. Miss Horton is one of the most talented of the younger dramatic contingent of Atlanta, and her worl Wednesday afternoon will be anticipated with eager interest by a large number who have seen her in other productions.

The ushers will again be under the chairmanship of Miss Lilly Peeples, who had charge of the ushering on the opening night.

"Democracy de Luxe" is being enthusiastically recommended by those who have seen the first two performances because of 'ts very real entertainment values. There is nothing of the amateucish about the comedy, either in its wriling or production. No finer useen bly of actors has been seen on a local stage than the group which has been trained by Mrs. Chauncey Smith for this performance. Spontaneous laughter constantly greets the comedy on the stage, and the thread of the story is carried forward surely and without effort to

Do not put table linen through the wringer—it will make creases that no amount of ironing will remove. Iron linen lengthwise, not across. Never starch linen; always iron very damp, wrong-side first, and finish on the right side.

When You Are Dull and Sluggish

When you rise in the morning, feel dull, indifferent as to duties—no appetite, coated tongue, no power of your will can overcome such a miserable feeling.

It's your own fault if you are billious, habitually or not. You should feel fit at all times, and you can enjoy the best of health by taking a pinch or two of St. Joseph's Liver Regulator at bedtime or after meals. This purely vegetable powder can be taken any time, anywhere, without sickening or griping effects. If preferred, you can make a tea brew by adding a teaspoonful to a cup of hot water, and flavoring with sugar and a little of the Juice of a lemon.

All druggists can supply you with St. Joseph's Liver Regulator, large cans 25c, or a package will be mailed you on receipt of price. Clip and mall this advertisement to the Grestle Medicine Co., Memphis, Tenn., for free samples and a copy of the 1922 St. Joseph's Almanac.

He had no love for Vic Gregg since that day when the posse rode through the hills after him; neither had Ronicky or Gus Reeve, who rose from their chairs as if at a signal. "Come with me, gents," said Vic.

"An' come quick!" They asked no questions and did not stay to argue the point for he had that in his face which meant action. He led them outside, and behind the horse shed of the saloon. "We're alone?" he asked.

"Nothin' in sight." "Gets, we may be alone now, but we ain't goin' to be alone long. Get your hosses and ride like hell. Barry is in town!" "Then, by God," growled Sliver Waldron, "lead me to him. I need to have a little talk with that gent." "Lead you to him?" echoed Vic

Gregg. "Sliver, are you hungerin' to push daisies?"

"Look here, Bud," answered the older man, and he laid a hand on the shoulder of Vic. "You been with this Barry gent, and you've lived in his house. D'you mean to say you're one with the little village in the valley, he heard the storekeeper retailing the story to an awe-stricken group. He even forgot to ask for the Barry mail.

A soft oath from Gus Reeve; a twitching of Ronicky's head told that this last had taken effect. Sliver Waldron suddenly altered his manner. "All right, Vic. Trot back into town, or come with us . We're going to move out." "The wisest thing you ever done, Sliver.

"I'm feelin' the same way," breathed

Gus Reeve.

"Slong," whispered Vic Gregg, and faded into the night, running.

The others, without a word among themselves, gathered their horses and struck down the valley out of Alder.

After a while, their panic abated, they stopped and considered. All three were brave men; they did not half believe the wild tales that were current about Barry. They decided that they would trap Whistling Dan in an ambreach.

"Don't do it, Kate!" he pleaded. "Lemme go with you. Lemme go and try to help."

"You'd be no help," she answered, her face like stone. "When I get to the place I may have to meet—him! Would you face him, Buck?"

His hand fell away from the bridle. It was not so much what she said as the cold, steady voice with which she spoke that unnerved him. Then, without a farewell, she turned the horse around and struck across the meadow at a swift gailop.

To the last ravine Kate's horse carried her easily enough, but that mounso the three reached the point where the shadowy walls of the valley drew almost together. There they places the horses in a hollow near the southern cliff, and returned to take post. There was only one bridle path post. There was only one bridle path which wound through the gulsh here, and the three concealed themselves behind a thicket of sagebrush to wait. Each man was to have his peculiar duty: Gus Reeve, an adept with the rope, would wait until the black stallion was cantering past and then toss ceased she gathered her resoluti his noose and throw the horse. At same instant, Ronicky Joe! was only a moment away, and she was only a moment away, and she was shoot the wolf-dog, and Sliver Waldron would perferate Dan Barry while the latter rolled in the dust, unless, indeed, he was pinioned by the fall of his horse, in which case they would have the added glory of taking him alive.

They saw Dan Barry while the the same instant, the same interest of the little figure made Kate's heart ache, made her pause on her way, and while she hesitated, Joan's way and way was only a moment away, and she came on the narrow cave epening with the came on the narrow cave epening within lost of the blue cloak, she was wrapped in a tawny hide and the yellow hair blew this way and that, unsheltered from the way.

They saw Dan Barry while the dawn was still around them, before the sun pushed above the mountains. He came winding down the bridle path with the light glittering on the side of Satan, and a dark, swift form spiriting on ahead.

"They're ours," whispered Waldron. "Steady, boys. Gus, get your rope

Gus tossed the noose a little wider, and gathered himself for the throw. They came rapidly. The wolf-dog darted past. Then, as the horse swept by, Gus Reeve rose from behind his bush and the rope darted snake-like from his hand. The forefeet of Satan landed in the noose, and the next instant the weight of Gus tightened the rope and Satan shot over upon his side, flinging his master clear of the saddle. It sent him rolling over and over in the dust, and Sliver Waldron "Where's Daddy Dan?" was on his feet with both guns in action, sending bullet after bullet towards the tumbling body. Black Bart had left the lifeless body of his victim and was darting towards the third man; the master was on his knee, raising his gun for the last shot; but Gus Reeve was blind to all that had happened. He saw only the black stallion, the matchless prize of horseflesh. He tossed a loop in the taut rope to entangle a hind foot, but that slacken ing of the line gave Satin an instant's purchase, and a moment later he was on his feet, whirled, and two ironhard hoofs crushed the whole framework of the man's chest like an eggshell. This "Bill" felt suddenly divorced from her baby, as if all the blood in Joan were the blood of her father.

"He left you here alone?" she murmured.

The child looked at her with a sort music. It brought Kate to her in a rush.

"Oh, Joan!" she cried. "My baby!"
And she would have swept the child into her arms, but Joan slipped out from under her very fingers and stood a little distance off with her hands pressed against the wall on either side of her, ready to dart one way or the other. It was not sudden terror, but rather a resolute determination to struggle against capture to the end, and her blue eyes were blazing with excitement. Kate was on her knees with her arms held out.

"Joan, dear, have you forgotten munner?"
The wildness flickered away from the eyes of the child little by little.
"Munner?" she repeated dubiously. No shout of welcome, no sudden terror, but if her throat was dry not the eyes of the child little by little.

Crackers Are Victims in Mobile; Bears Win Opening Game 13 to 3

Sammy Mayer's Pitching Stops Attack of Bears in Eighth After Eight Runs Come In.

Mobile. Ala., April 18—(Special.)
Registering a total of twenty hits among the number eight contributed by the Williams boys, Dennis and Rhino. Bert Niehoff's popeyed Bears gave the Atlanta Crachers a most humiliating beating out at Monroe park Tuesday afternoor, walloping them 13 to 3, after staging one of the greatest exhibitions of hitting seen on a Southern league diamond in years. The Bears clouted 'Buddy' Napier for eleven blows and 'ver runs in seven or ounds, then turned on one Mr. Williams on for six hits and six runs in one-third of a frame, straddled Johnny Suggs' frame for three safeties and a pair of runs before he could retire a man, finally subsiding before Sammy Mayer, a wrong-handed out-fielder, brought into the pitcher's mound, when the Betara, hit everything also in the Cracker camp for base hit after base hit. It was a real slaughter, fourther man on a total of nine hits, all of them of the legitinaste variety, and sent burning into the outfield.

The game started with a stingly the more on base for Ellam to send all the way home with a timely two-base hit. The Bears would not break through Napier's metaling in the first. The Crackers assumed a lead of one run in the second, when an error put a runner on base for Ellam to send all the way home with a timely two-base hit. The Bears would not break through Napier's metaling in the first. The Crackers assumed a lead of one run in the second, when an error put a runner on base for Ellam to send all the way home with a timely two-base hit. The Bears would not break through Napier's metaling in the first fourther man on a total of nine hits, all of them of the legitinaste variety, and sent burning into the cutfield.

Williams and Mulvey singled in unity two-base hit. The Bears would not break through Napier's metaling hit was a sent burning into the care with the care was all a pair in the first. The Crackers assumed a lead of nor run in the second. Buth the he had been to decide the man of the running. These tallies put the Crackers of the read o len went to third. That ended Wil-liamson. He had pitched to the entire batting order of the Mobile club, retir-ing only one man. Six hit safe and six runners had scored, while he turned beaten and glad to see the contest reach a close, as the majority of the Cracker athletes were out of breath after chasing all those basehits around the ball park.

Roberts Scores Two.

Ray Roberts, up for the second time in the inning, singled to right, and Mullen and Baker came romping home. Boll then decided that there's no time like the present, and he also singled, sending Roberts to second. Denny Williams, who had already hit safely on his first trip to the plate, was up again. Once more he delivered a base hit, a single to right, on which Roberts stopped at third, filling the bases. Here Suggs departed, after pitching to three men, all of whom had hit safe

A HOLIDAY

Chebourg, France, April 18.—Jack Dempsey does not plan to engage in any bouts on his present trip to Europe, but will return if suitable opponents can be found.

"I haven't come to fight, but for a holiday," he told the correspondent when asked the truth of a report that he was to meet Carpentier again while here. "If I find opponents worth while I shall accept, but for the next voyage," he added,

"But I mean regular pie—apple pie, I mean" said Dempsey.

LAW OBSERVANCE URGED BY JONES

Preacher Delivers Adservance of Laws of Man.

Strict observance and rigid enforcement of the laws was emphasized last night by Dr. Charles O. Jones, one of the pastors actively engaged in Atlanta's revival campaign, in his address for The Constitution's radio service. Dr. Jones spoke at 6 o'clock.

The address was in the form of a sermon and the subject was "The Majesty of the Law." The text was taken from the twenty-sixth verse of the tenth chapter of Luke, "Jesus said to a certain questioner, 'What is written in the law?"

Dr. Jones spoke in part as fol-

"The basis of divine law is the will of God, revealed in the Bible. The basis of human law is the will of the community expressed in statutory or constitutional enactments.

"When a law is enacted, it must be obeyed until it is repealed. Disobedience to any law is the germ of cation that personal liberty is above law. Those who say so confuse personal liberty with civil liberty.

"As a citizen I must keep the law myself, help others to keep it, encourage our chiefs of police, sheriffs, judges and all officers to enforce the law, and as a veter resolve in the law, and as a voter, resolve in the majesty of free and patriotic citizenship, to vote only for those officers who will solemnly pledge to be true to their official oaths. If false to their vows, they should be removed from office as early as possible. The rom office as early as possible. The Ten Commandments were given through Moses. Christ gave the 11th: "Thou shalt love God and man." I suggest the 12th: "Thou shalt not break the laws of God or of country: for, so doing, thou shalt be a traitor both to God and man."

Other Speakers of Week. Three more addresses by preachers taking part in the revival campaign Jave been arranged for this week. Jonight Dr. S. R. Belk, pastor of the Trinity Methodist church, will give a short address. The Rev. W. H. LaPrade, Jr., will talk on Thursday evening and Friday evening Lieutenant Richard Broyles will preach.

Arrangements are also being made to lave a sermon at 6 o'clock Saturday night. Sunday night Dr. E. F. Dempsey will preach.

RADIO CUTS SLUMP IN ENGINEERING JOBS

Employment on Increase for Men Hardest Hit in Unemployment.

Employment is on the increase among the engineers, who have been among the severest sufferers from the unemployment crisis, according to a statement issued by the employment service of the American Engineering Council of the Federated American Engineering societies. Until recently the file of unemployed engineers maintained by the employment service of the council has indicated a continual finerease. During the last month, showever, it is said that the file of 3,000 applicants has not grown, as it did during the previous months. This improvement is taken to be an indication of the gradual, but steady, improvement that is to be expected in general business and market conditions. Employment is on the increase

The improvement among engineers considered especially encouraging cause it was unexpected. Spring astruction work naturally widens the field for civil engineers, but it is said that the margin of demand which this group would ordinarily enjoy is largely offset by the demand for elecrical and mechanical engineers called forth by the necessity for increased output of radio equipment. Mechanial engineers and electrical engineers have benefited in approximately the same ratio by this new demand, ac-cording to the report.

The spark discharges occur at regular intervals but a much greater frequency than the frequency of the charging current and vary in amplitude due to the fact that they occur at different points in the cycles of the charging current. Another type of spark gap is known as the synchronous rotary gap and is a type common to radio transmitters using a motor-generator set. In this type a heavy metal disc carrying a number of copper electrodes is attached to the shaft of the generator, and these electrodes revolve, with a minimum air gap, past two stationary electrodes. The revolving electrodes are equal in number to the number of field poles of the generator with the result that the discharge of the condenser across the gap occurs at the same time as the alterations of the charging current. A form of spark gap which operates efficiently in the closed oscillatory circuit is known as the "quenched" spark gap. In this type of gap, copper plates approximately 1½ inches in diameter are separated by specially treated fiber washers, so that the distance between the sparking surfaces is approximately one hundredth of an inch. The copper discs are provided with grooves and cooling flanges, and are mounted alternately with the washers in a metal frame, tightened by a bolt until the joints between the washers and discs are air-tight. This type of spark gap quenches the oscillations of the closed oscillatory circuit with sufficient rapidity to prevent reaction between this circuit and the open radiating circuit with the result that the energy is radiated in the form of a single wave.

The wave length of the loose coupler is about 700 meters. The primary is rather small in comparison with the secondary. You should have about twice as many turns. No one can tell what you turns. It had been expected in some quarters that if, as proved to be the case, the Liverpool market on resumption of business after the Easter holiday recess should fail today to parallel the recent big advance in Chicago a decided fall of values would be witnessed here. Instead, the relative indifference shown at Liverpool was practically ignored here after a brief period at the outset. Persistent buying for houses with eastern conne tions kept quotations climbing mos-of the time until midday, after which however, the action of the market as a rule was the reverse. New Highs Are Made Despite Reactionary Tendency in Stocks

BY R. L. BARNUM

Constitution's New York Financial Correspondent New York, April 18.-Trading on the stock exchange today, although below that of Monday, again was far in excess of the millionshare market, the total up to 1 p. m. being more than a million shares. The price movement during the greater part of the day, especially in the case of the industrial issues, was highly irregular which was to be expected following the recent heavy profit taking on the part of some of the big traders. In spite of the irregularty there were numerous issues which rose to new high records for the year. In this group Consolidated Gas of New York was most important.

Under cover of liquidation in the industrial group the rails were again taken in band and bid up to new high records for the year in many issues. A feature among the high priced shares was Union Pacific, while St. Paul common and preferred featured the low priced

Sentiment as to the future course of the market appears very much mixed. For some time past numerous houses have been expecting a reaction in prices, in fact, they have been expecting this for several weeks or more. Now that some reaction has set in there arose from all quarters the familiar "I told you so." It appears to be wise to watch one's step for the time being despite the fact that some veteran traders say that the market will not be over until three million-share days have been witnessed. In all the history of the New York stock exchange there have been only three 3,000,000 shares days, but the market has stopped more often than that.

The report of earnings of the New York Central for the last three months of the past year explains the recent sharp advance in stock of that company. Gross revenues totaled $82,695,614, a decrease of $22,456,363 from the same period last year, while surplus income after all charges and taxes totaled $10,660,936, an increase of $10,010,569.

It is reported here that Cosden & Co., has closed a contract with the Atchison for 1,200,000 barrels of oil for 1922 delivery at a puice of $1.20

The Peerless Truck & Motor company for 1921 reports net sales of $12.055,904 against $14,919,065 in 1920. The net loss after operating expenses and depreciation was $47.732, against a profit of $1,232.768 after the same deductions in 1920. The total deficit for the year after other charges such as interest and other charges such as interest and payment of dividends was $505,191 against a surplus of $211,780. The profit and loss surplus at the end of 1920 was $5,022,551.

Real Advance.

In commenting on the recent im-provement, the Harvard Economic Service, in its April letter, says in part, that "Bank clearings outside New York furnish that the business New York furnish that the business improvement last month was more than seasonal and represents a real advance in business activity, following a similar movement in February. We have stated that the business advances this spring means, first, an increase in business and, second an advance in wholesale commodity prices. An advance in wholesale prices does not mean that all commodities rise; in fact, prices never modities rise; in fact, prices never advance with an even front, since each commodity is affected by conditions peculiar to itself.

The annual report of the Atchison, The annual report of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe railroad ranks among the best issued by any of our railroads for 1921. The statement shows net corporate income of $39.331.662, which, after preferred dividends was equal to $14.60 a share earned on the total common stock. In 1920 the road reported income equal to $13.98 a share on the stock then outstanding.

The annual report of the Cities

The annual report of the Cities Service company for 1921 is also con-sidered a remarkable document, considered a remarkable document, considering the conditions which existed in the business world for the greater part of last year, especially in the oil industry in which Cities Service is heavily interested. The company reports surplus, after charges, taxes and preferred dividends of $5,989,054 and equal to $13.04 a share on the average amount of common stock outstanding. Railroad Reports. In 1920 surplus was equal to $17,-370,463 or $43.09 a share on the stock then outstanding. It is rumored here that Cities Service may resume cash dividends within the next sume cash dividends within the next six months. This, however, cannot be confirmed in official circles.

Railroad earnings for all the roads in the United States made a good showing in February, the net income of 186 class 1 carriers being $47,70,897 against a deficit of more than $5,000,000 in the same month last year.

New York, April 18.—The bond market kept more or less regular pace with the re actionary stock list today, heavy selling for profits going far to efface recent gains. Practically every issue of the Liberty series was moderately affected by this movem ent, although declines in all instances were relatively trifling. Internationals were sold offering was soon oversubscribed. Many domestic rails were lifted to new high levels on the strength of stocks of that description, western and southwestern issues being most

Loew's Grand (Vaudeville and Pictures)-See advertising for program. Forsyth Theater-All week, Forsyth Players in "That Girl Patsy."

Howard Theater—All week, Agnes Ayres n "Bought and Paid For," and other screen satures.

"That Girl Patsy."

(At the Forsyth.)
As promised by those responsible for its selection, "That Girl Patsy" scored a hit at the Forsyth theater on Monday and Tuesday. Large audiences chuckled and laughed at the funny situations and brilliant dialogue of the play, and felt tears in their eyes during those other moments, The story of the play is fascinatng and never ceases in interest from start to finish, but it is the central figure, this bright, capricious, mimic Patsy, a girl in whom is found the quaint logic of experience and the humor of her kind, which is the real charm of the play.

Keith Vaudeville.

Keith Vaudeville.

(At the Lyric.)

The first half of the bill at Keith's Lyric theater is really a "Big Time Vaudeville Bill." There are several high-class features that are worthy of any big time program. The offering of Gattison Jones and Elsle Elliot, with Al Hockey in a fantastic song, dance and musical revue, that is bright, neat, cleverly conceived and brilliantly presented with elaborate stage and cotsume settings. The feminine portion of the set is dainty and demure and decidedly easy on the eyes.

In answer to the popular demand for her return, Mattylee Lippard, "The Georgia Peach," is back again, as charming and bewitching as before, in her cycle of songs with trimmings. Miss Lippard's sweet voice is heard to advantage with new songs and beautiful costume effects. songs and beautiful costume

Loew Vaudeville.

Tonight closes the engagement at Loew's Grand theater of Jack Collins and company in "Dear Doctor." the clever musical skit which headlines the bill for the first half of the week. Three pretty girls in the company assist materially in putting the sketch over with tuneful songs and graceful dances, and Jack Collins, in the principal character role, is making a pronounced hit.

Jim Miller and Herm Rose have a very amusing offering and one full of funny sayings. Their songs and patter are well selected and they have one of the bst acts on the bill. Other offerings are Earl Rickard, blackface comedian; Walter Fenner and company in a novel one-act playlet "Show Me," and Taylor and Brown in versatile aerial featr.

The feature of the screen bill is an Allen Dwan special production, "The Sin of Martha Queed."

"Bought and Paid For."

At the Howard.)

And now we 've 'Bought and Paid For' on the Treen!

This famous stage play, by George Broadhurst, was ably transferred to the silver sheet '5' Wil'ian I'e Mille, producer of 'Miss Lulu Bett' and other Paramount successes. There are several outstanding and unusually attractive features about this nicture, which will be the reathis picture, which will be the leature at the Howard theater. In the ture at the Howard theater. In the cast are two Paramount stars, Agnes Ayres and Jack Holt, both of whom are highly popular. Then there is Walter Hiers, the humorous heavyweight comedian, who relieves the tenseness of this emotional dramra by a laugh now and then. Others in the cast are Leah Wyant, George Kuhn, Bernice Frank and Ethel Wales.

"Foolish Wives."

Persons looking for thrills and realism in pictures will receive their fill while witnessing the local premiere of "Foolish Wives," the million-dollar photodrama now on the screen of the Rialto theater.

All the glitter and glamor of gay Monte Carlo, with its gorgeous settings and adventures and adventuresesses, fire scenes without equal that stir the most apathetic, romance that sounds the depths of passion, form a real and colorful reproduction of life a it actually is.

MISS MARY FAITH YOW.

Atlanta next week as a member of the Forsyth Players.

Miss Yow will play the role of "Sabel," a showgirl, in "Nothing But the Truth."

Mellon explained that most of the important appropriation bills for 1923 remain to be enacted, and it is, therefore, impossible to estimate with precision just what will be spent. But such figures as were available have been checked with the departments concerned. Appropriations do not furnish an accurate gauge of what a department will expend, in any event, so it is probable Mellon's sure of that. He said: "The treas-ury has not had any official notifica-tion that interest will be paid in that year (1923) on the British obliga-tions held by the United States, though there have been several official announcements in Great Britain of an intention to include that item of expenditure in the British budget

Summer Homes at Fernwood

WE have a number of acreage tracts at Fernwood suited for summer homes. Some are in Fulton county, some in DeKalb. All are near Peachtree Road, and none more than 9 miles to Atlanta. Most of them have running water, all elevated and shaded. They range from one to five acres each. We will build new four room house on any of these tracts for $250. This includes well and tollet and two porches.

SYLVAN DRIVE BEAUTY On Sylvan Drive one tract contains about 11/2 acres. Plenty elevation, shade, wood, spring and branch. Faces two streets with 550 feet frontage. Very pretty. Will sell for $750 including house. Smaller house for less. Three years to pay with no interest. See this tract. NORTH PEACHTREE ROAD In Oglethorpe Park on North Peachtree Road we have four acres. This is near Country Club. Corner lot facing three streets with 1250 feet street frontage. Magnificent tract. Only $2,500, easy terms. We still have a few tracts near Capital City Country Club in Ogle-thorpe Park, Fulton County. These tracts sell from $800 to $1,500, average 11/2 acres each. All beautifully elevated, shaded, running water. Near North Peachtree Road, not far from car line. We are selling these tracts on easy terms, and will build summer house for you if wanted. Look these lots over. They are worth more than we ask, even as an investment. LOTS AT $350 EACH

We still have two wonderful lots in Brookhaven Heights on Matthews street. These lots are 67x200 each and are together. Highest elevation in the subdivision. Plenty shade. Will sell at $350 each, $10 cash and $10 month. Will build new house for $150 or $250, depending on size. Other lots in Fernwood in proportion.

PONCE DE LEON AVENUE BUNGALOW

This is near Bonaventure avenue, on the north side of the street; and in this block the lots run back to a considerable depth with an unimproved 40-foot street in the rear. At the present time this unimproved street furnishes an outlet for the rear, but in the course of time it will be improved and become a site for other dwellings.

Here we are offering a brick bungalow with seven rooms and bath at a very attractive price. This house is new and has been occupied only a short time by the present owner. It was designed and built for a permanent home; it is an individual style of house, showing evidences of careful planning and good building.

We can sell this house for $13,500, but must have a substantial first payment; business reasons only would cause this place to be put on the market. It is offered for sale, not merely to get rid of it, but for the purpose of raising some money. This is, an occasion where cash cuts quite a figure.
